PASTOR'S COLUMN

Reflection on the Readings

Consider the scene from this Sunday's gospel. Peter has just made his great confession, which has earned him the keys to the Kingdom. All the disciples had recognized Jesus as "truly the Son of God!" after he stilled the storm at sea. Wouldn't you think this is a choice moment in which to reveal the coming hour of Passion? And you would be wrong. No sooner does Jesus predict what's on the horizon than Peter sees fit to dress him down for it. Peter's operating out of loyalty here, of course. He will not see Jesus humiliated or defeated. He cannot conceive of harm coming to the leader he loves and reveres.

But Peter is also making a mistake. He's thinking in simple, mortal terms of how success and failure are measured. He would much prefer that Jesus would gain the whole world rather than lose his life. And we all think this way, both in the church and outside it. We want our parishes to grow and expand in size, wealth, and popularity. We want to be liked, applauded, and appreciated. We want others to agree with us and support us. We don't want adversity. We avoid, at all costs, the cross.

Friends, Jesus calls this attitude "Satan," the name of the great adversary whose name means exactly that, "to oppose, obstruct." It is an adversarial spirit to the mind of God. When we hope for tangible, material signs of success, we are setting up a rival to God in our hearts. Peter had no idea how close to the precipice he stood on the day Jesus sharply drew him back.

-Fr. David Santos, Pastor

Quote of the Week

"There can only be two basic loves . . . the love of God unto the forgetfulness of self, or the love of self unto the forgetfulness and denial of God."

—St. Augustiine of Hippo

Daily Mass on Monday, September 4th will be at 8:30AM.

SUNDAY READINGS

FIRST READING Jeremiah 20:7-9

I say to myself, I will not mention him, I will speak in his name no more. But then it becomes like fire burning in my heart, imprisoned in my bones; I grow weary holding it in, I cannot endure it.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM Psalm 63

My soul is thirsting for you, O Lord my God..

SECOND READING Romans 12:1-2

Do not conform yourselves to this age but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may discern what is the will of God, what is good and pleasing and perfect.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION Ephesians 1:17-18

May the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ enlighten the eyes of our hearts, that we may know what is the hope that belongs to our call.

GOSPEL Matthew 16:21-27

"Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will find it."
